

Conclusion

Learnings:

- Learned how to solve a problem from the user perspective
- I understood that the non-tech savvy customers expect a simple UX without any bells and whistles
- User testing gave me a better perspective about how a customer navigates through an app

